NOVEMBER 2023

This Month in STEAM

Your child brought home their Square 1 Art fundraiser catalog at the end of October. You can order items online until the cut off date of November 15th, and the items will ship directly to your home! These make great Christmas gifts for loved ones!

In November, fifth graders will be beginning their engineering challenge unit, fourth graders will finish up engineering and move on to some foil embossing art, and third graders will begin their coding/computer programming unit!

Sincerely, Mrs. Courier

This Month in Music

November starts holiday season in the music room! Students are learning and preparing the songs you will see at our Christmas Concert on December 12th. We always feature lots of instruments and movement so preparation is key to make the music happen. Fifth graders are especially pumped to feature songs from the Polar Express! I do want to remind students that night is family night and concert night, so if you have multiple students or want to hang around a little longer there are plenty of activities to keep families busy. I also want to send a reminder to turn in choir forms if interested- we start right away in January, so I like to get most of the numbers before then. Looking forward to a great holiday season!

Sincerely, Mrs. Rich

This Month in P.E.

This month in PE we will continue to work on cooperative games as well as some seasonal activities. Our focus will be on how we display our character traits in Physical Education. This month's focus is gratitude. Students will be taking part in games such as: Go Fish, Fire and Ice Tag, Train Tracks as well as some other Kin Ball games. Fifth graders are continuing to review the muscle groups. So far, they should be able to identify biceps, triceps, pectoralis and abdominals.

Sincerely, Mrs. Oswald
